

Huttlestonian 2003

A class act and dedicated professional who will never be replaced.

This year The Huttlestonian could not be dedicated to a more deserving individual. He has dedicated his life to being an educator and at the end of this school year we will say goodbye to him as an active member of the FHS family but he will always be a beloved and respected member of the FHS family and community.

There are not enough kind words to describe this man but he certainly defines perseverance, courage, indomitable will, dedication, and genuineness. He displays class in any and all social settings. He has an incredible, gregarious personality along with a hearty, contagious laugh. He was a diligent and vigilant educator, adored and respected by his students and colleagues. Never was there a bad word spoken of this man.

Despite all his qualities, what will stand out most is his desire to succeed and lead. To his credit, it is these qualities that we will remember most for he has overcome obstacles which would have destroyed a lesser human being. The strength and will that he shows in continuing to recuperate from an incredible setback is an example for us all to respect and emulate.

How his wife and children have stuck by him and persevered is also a credit to this man. It shows that he has accomplished his most daunting tasks of being a great husband and father with the same care and tenacity that he approached his professional responsibilities with.

Throughout his career and his struggles he never stopped smiling and he has put into perspective for us all what is omnipotent in life...that is family, health and character.

On behalf of the FHS family and graduating class of 2003, we thank this man for the lessons he has taught us all in and out the classroom. Fairhaven High School is proud to dedicate The 2003 Huttlestonian to Mr. Renee Drouin.

With sadness, we say goodbye and best of luck to our retiring professionals:

Mrs. Kaner

Mr. Medeiros

Mrs. Lopes

Mrs. Paiva

Mr. Burr

The professionals pictured above have dedicated all or most of their professional lives to Fairhaven High School. They have played the role of administrator, teacher, coach, mentor, friend, counselor, listener, and many others. Their first priority was always the students of FHS and they have all left indelible marks, memories and lessons on the lives of the students who they came in contact with. They will all be missed and difficult if not impossible to replace. We honor them and thank them for giving so much of themselves.

Assistant Principal,
Mary Jane Muello

Dear Members of the Class of 2003,

Within a few short months you will finally come to the realization that each of you as graduates of Fairhaven High School will be traveling your separate ways to explore new frontiers. Following our mission, Fairhaven High School has attempted to prepare you for your many journeys; I am confident that as individuals and as a class you will "make your mark" in definable ways. Your contributions to Fairhaven High School have been substantive. You and your classmates provided important leadership during our NEASC review. Your school and community will not forget your important contribution to this scale of excellence and the impact this work will have on the classes that will follow you. Do not forget us; we will certainly not forget you.

On behalf of the entire staff of Fairhaven High School, I congratulate you; go forward and continue to make your families and community proud.

Sincerely,

Jean M. Cote
Principal

Class Officers

The class officers have all contributed many hours of dedicated service to insure their classmates four years at FHS were as enjoyable as possible. From planning and washing vehicles at a car wash to rolling up the tarp after a class sponsored dance, they did what needed to be done. Congratulations to them all for a job well done!

Class President FHS Class of

To My Fellow Seniors:

As we prepare to leave a life we have all known for four years, we step forward to enter a new one. Through our four years at Fairhaven High School, we have been faced with numerous challenges that could have hindered our progress. We have overcome these obstacles to achieve our ultimate goal when we began school, graduating from high school.

In a bold move by the state of Massachusetts, we, the Class of 2003, would be the first graduating class that would be required to pass the Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment System (MCAS). Proudly, I can say that the majority of our class passed this test and brought us one step closer to our diplomas.

We, the Class of 2003, are also the first graduating class to leave Fairhaven High School that was able to take advantage of the new addition placed on our historic school for all four years. We were fortunate enough to make the most of the new science and foreign language labs, while at the same time enjoy the beauty of the 1906 building.

Completing high school is a major step toward our future. I hope that the entire Class of 2003 was able to take advantage of this learning process that will affect the rest of our lives. Hopefully, as we prepare to leave a life that we have known for four years, we are ready to enter a new one. On behalf of my fellow class officers, I wish everyone great success and prosperity in all of our future endeavors.

Your friend and classmate,
Michael Furtado

Benjamin Pegg

Benjamin did not write a senior profile for himself. He too took a wonderful senior portrait, which we include to honor his four years at Fairhaven High School.

Caitlin Perry

Caitlin was without words to describe her experiences at FHS. We limited everyone to 1,000 characters and that just wasn't enough for her, but we think she would have commented on how she enjoyed her cheering days.

Jacob Sylvia

Jacob was without words to describe his experiences at FHS. He seems 'buttoned lipped' in his picture, so we'll assume he's speechless when it comes to describing how wonderful his four years at FHS were.

Joshua Starr

Joshua was without words to describe his experiences at FHS. We include his picture here so that he can reflect back on his days at FHS throughout his life.
